

YOUNG BRIDE TAKES HER HUSBAND'S LIFE.

PERISHED IN BAY OF BISCAY

AGUINALDO ON THE WARPATH

Mrs. Anna Mantel Says He Deserved Death for His Cruelty.

Mrs. William Mantel of San Francisco last evening shot and killed her husband in Alameda. She then attempted to take her own life but only inflicted a painful wound. The young woman now occupies a cell in the County Jail to await trial on a charge of murder.

The prisoner has scarcely attained her twentieth year. She is petite of form, girlish in manner and fair of feature. Indeed it is not within the recollection of the custodians of the jail when a prettier female face was ever admitted as a prisoner within those walls. The little woman's forehead and head are bound in bandages concealing a self-inflicted wound in the back of the head which will certainly cause her pain for many a day and night. Indeed it does not impair some of her mental faculties.

The woman was borne to the jail this morning about 10:30 o'clock from the Receiving Hospital where she had spent the night, having been taken to that place after the tragedy in which she had played the role of heroine. She has been charged with murder and as soon as she is able to leave her cell she will be given a preliminary hearing in Alameda.

THE MURDER.

The crime of which she is accused is the murder of William Frank Mantel, whom she shot twice in front of the residence of George W. Shreve at the intersection of Union and Santa Clara avenue at 6:30 o'clock last evening. Each shot would have caused death. One of the bullets went through the heart. The other found lodgment in his heart. Scarcely had the luckless spouse fallen to the curb when the woman turned the weapon upon herself and fired one shot. She found entrance to the back of the head somewhat right of the center and took a course toward the right ear above which it found an exit.

After the shooting the woman gazed at the prostrate and lifeless form of her husband. She then put the pistol into her pocket, walked to the middle of Santa Clara avenue and there awaited a car which she stopped and boarded, exclaiming: "I have shot and killed my husband. I have shot myself. What will my poor mother say?"

The woman rode on the car as far as Dr. Lubbuck's house where she alighted and where she remained until later taken in custody by Sergeant Conrad and still later brought to the Receiving Hospital in this city where her injuries were again attended to by Dr. Porter.

HER EXPLANATION.

The first explanation of the shooting which she vouchsafed was made to Sergeant Conrad. She declared that she had shot her husband because he had been cruel to her, although she had been married only since the 2d of last month.

She said that her maiden name was Anna Beth, that she was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph H. Beth, the former of whom is the proprietor of the Louvre saloon and restaurant under the Phelan building in San Francisco. She also stated that Mantel had inflicted indignities upon her. He had met her yesterday and abused her, claiming that while he had to all intents and appearances married her, she so-called marriage was but a sham and that she was not his wife. This announcement, she said, offended her. They had met yesterday in San Francisco about 5 o'clock and had talked over their affairs until 8 o'clock.

They were well known in that city, and their appearance on the street attracted a great deal of attention. Mantel said that he had a couple of sisters residing in Alameda and proposed that they go over there where they could talk over their difficulties. She consented and accompanied him, walking along Santa Clara avenue after he had dismounted from the train. She did not know where he was leading her, supposing, however, that he was going to the home of one of his sisters. While they were walking along Mantel, she says, informed her of his petitory and of the dupe that he had made of her, and at the same time attempted to strike her. She stepped away from him. He caught her by the arm. She wrenched herself from his grasp. She pulled the revolver, which was of 38-calibre, and fired the shots which robbed Mantel of his life.

A NIGHT OF PAIN.

All last night the murderers passed in moaning in pain at the Receiving Hospital, and was still suffering this morning.

All the attempts made last night to elicit where the woman and her husband had married, and by whom the ceremony was performed, were fruitless. She declined to talk on the subject, referring all inquiries to her husband. She was not aware at the time that her husband's lips were sealed in death.

This morning the woman was seen by a Tribune reporter, and though claiming that she was in great pain, made a statement in brief form which shed a little more light on the subject of the marriage, or the alleged perjury of the dead man. She stated that she had been married to Mantel in San Jose and that she had gone thither with him from San Francisco to be married. This information was elicited after a number of questions, the answers to which were couched in a few words and frequently came in monosyllables.

STORY OF THE MARRIAGE.

"Yes," she said, "I was married to Mantel. The marriage took place about a month ago. Why do you wish to know who married us? Go and ask my husband. He won't tell you? Why won't he tell you?"

The woman then assumed a look of welled from her eyes, as she wept in sorrow and repentance. The interview lasted for a few moments, and then Mr. Beth went to the train to meet his wife and younger daughter, May, who reached the meeting between the mother and daughter was sorrowful in the extreme. Some moments elapsed before either party spoke. There was no reproach, no frowns, no evidence of desire to criticize the girl's conduct, although it was felt that an erring step had been taken. Careless were indulged in to give solace to the wounded heart and brain of the little patient.

"My daughter left her home yesterday," said her father to a Tribune reporter. "She lunched with me at the Louvre at 4 o'clock. She did not say she was going to meet any one. She did not return home after she left me. I never knew her to handle my gun. She must have anticipated trouble when she took the gun before leaving home. I did not know Mantel. I had never seen him to my knowledge. I did not know what she knew him. I did not know that she was married. She knew scarcely any men. Mantel never called at my home. Anna told me that she was married in San Jose. The name of the justice of the peace she said she had in her pocket book which she carried with her at the time of the shooting. My daughter ought not to have done what she has done. Two wrongs don't make a right. She ought to have told me. My daughter rarely went away from home. Our family generally went to the theater and concerts together. Sometimes Anna would not want to go and would remain at home. This is a shock which greatly grieved me. She was always at home save a short time ago, when she spent a few days with a friend at Berkeley."

Mrs. Beth agreed to all this save that Anna had never been away from home save about four weeks ago, which would be about the time of the marriage. Then she said Anna was away for two weeks doing as the girl reported some business for a lady friend whom Mrs. Beth declined to name.

The pocket book referred to by Mr. Beth is locked up with a sachet belonging to the girl, in the safe of Chief of Police Rogers of Alameda, and their contents were not examined by the Chief today before he went to San Francisco.

THE MARRIAGE.

The Tribune telegraphed to San Jose this afternoon to verify the story of the marriage of Mrs. Mantel, and received information to the effect that the marriage really did take place.

The record in the clerk's office of Santa Clara county is to the effect that, on the 2d of last month, a license to marry was taken out by William Frank Mantel, aged 27 years, and Anna Beth, aged 21 years, both of San Francisco, as the place of residence.

The name of the groom was spelled as above given, whether through inadvertence or the part of the clerk, or whether because that is the right way of spelling the name, is unknown. It will be perceived that the name slightly differs from that of "Mantel," which is the way in which the hapless wife and widow spelled it for the Tribune Reporter this morning. The certificate of marriage was signed by "John W. Gass, Justice of the Peace."

ANDREE HEARD FROM IN RUSSIA.

STOCKHOLM, Dec. 2.—An engine driver named Deke has written to the Swedish-Norwegian Minister at St. Petersburg a letter in which he says that he found in the vicinity of the Ural mountains a bottle containing two papers, one of which bore the following message written in French:

"Andree's balloon has crossed the Ural mountains. 'ANDREE'." The other paper, inscribed in Russian, was as follows:

"Give this letter to the Consul or to the police."

The balloon, "Bagie," with Professor Andree and two companions, Strindberg and Frankel, in the car, left Danes Island of the Spitzbergen group on July 11, 1897, in an attempt to cross the pole. Since then no definite news of the aeronauts has been received beyond a message found attached to a carrier pigeon found by the whaling ship Falken, which arrived at Copenhagen on September 2d. The message read: "July 18, 12:30 P. M. Lat. 82.2 N. Long. 12.5 East. Good voyage eastward. All well."

A CAROLINE ISLAND NOT SHE COLLAPSED UNDER PITILESS EXAMINATION.

If Spain Does Not Want to Sell Well and Good.

The Cabinet Planning a Government for the Cubans.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—After the Cabinet meeting to-day it was stated that nothing had been heard from Paris respecting the failure of the peace commission to negotiate the purchase of Strong Island, one of the Caroline group, nor is the matter regarded as of great consequence. In any event it is not vital to the treaty of peace, and if the Spaniards show any inclination to not part with it, the matter will be allowed to drop.

Secretary Gage remained an hour after the other members of the Cabinet had left the White House, during which time the President read part of his message to Congress, relating to the financial situation. Secretary Gage regards the message as one of the most important sent to Congress in many years.

The Cabinet discussed at some length the administration of Cuba, going into detail as to the revenues, sanitation, the personnel of the government, and other matters. A military government, of course, will exist for some time, unless Congress, as is not deemed probable, otherwise directs at the ensuing session. The Cabinet decided that unusual care should be taken to secure persons of tact, ability and discretion to administer the affairs of the island temporarily. Immediately upon occupation of the various cities, prompt steps are to be taken to put them in the best possible sanitary condition, and plans were discussed today as to how best to meet the large expense this will involve, without undue taxation.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

PARIS, Dec. 2.—The joint peace commissions met here to-day and sat in session two hours, no real progress being made.

The Americans have asked for instructions on certain matters. The Caroline Islands' question was not considered. The joint commission adjourned until Saturday.

MINOR MATTERS DISCUSSED.

The United States peace commission concluded its consultation with Major General Wesley Merritt at 4:30 o'clock, after which it took up the question of Spanish commercial rights in the West Indies for a term of years, and other subjects of negotiation to be considered later at the joint session.

AGUINALDO'S REBELLION.

Spanish sympathizers having a quasi-connection with the Spanish commission are making much over the reported attitude of the Philippines towards the United States. These sympathizers profess to have information that Aguinaldo means to fight, and that he now has 60,000 soldiers, armed with Mauser rifles, and eighteen quick-firing guns, and it is asserted that he will be satisfied with nothing but independence.

Aguinaldo, Aguinaldo's agent, was reticent, when questioned on the subject this morning, saying that he had no definite information from his government.

WILL CONFER WITH GEORGE CROCKER

The Telegraph Avenue and Northern Oakland Improvement Association met last evening at Pizzola's Hall, in Temescal. The association was organized about two months ago, with some thirty members on its membership roll. Its officers are: Prof. J. G. Lemmon, president; W. C. Wallace, secretary; and Joseph Podini, treasurer.

The residents of Temescal have awakened to the fact that their district is suffering from the policy of discrimination on the part of the railroad company and the car line by which the people living there whose business is in San Francisco are compelled to pay just double the fare charged the residents of other localities. One of the main objects of the association is to secure communication privileges that will place Temescal on an even footing with the other car lines in addition to this communicative fare on the to and fro, some of the home-seekers who are now settling in sections of the city which are by no means as desirable in other respects as is Temescal.

W. C. Wallace addressed the club on this point. He said in part: "I have lived in Temescal for thirty years. We selected this point of the country as our home when the car line country here was open, for the reason that in topography, drainage, view, and all that makes a desirable home, it was the best part of the town. It has those advantages to-day but it does not thrive as it should. The class of thrifty, industrious mechanics which is such a potent factor in the upbuilding of a community with its buy homes in Temescal, and the question of transportation is a vital one with them. He can go to West Berkeley, Elmhurst or Fruitvale, and his $1 a month ferry communication ticket enables him to ride on the street car to his door. How is it if he lives along the Telegraph Avenue line in Temescal? Why, he pays just double the fare on the car line in addition to his communicative fare on the to and fro. That is $2 a year, and $2 is in excess on a good deal of money, enough to make a workman give Temescal the go-by when he is looking for a home, and induce him to locate in some remote suburb that possesses not half the advantages our section does in other respects. I have seen during all these years the city of Oakland growing up around a circle, and leaving what I consider the choicest residence district in the community to stagnate. I am satisfied that if we can make an arrangement with the Telegraph Avenue car line and the Southern Pacific Railroad to give us the same show as our neighbors in the matter of communication privileges, the curse will be raised like magic, and this district will prosper like any other." Mr. Wallace reported on behalf of the Executive Committee of the Association—Prof. J. G. Lemmon, M. S. Dewing, W. C. Wallace, R. J. Montgomery, J. M. Hager—he had arranged that the committee should be given a hearing by George Crocker in San Francisco next Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The association then adjourned, to meet again the first Thursday in January.

Members Meet at Annual Banquet.

The St. Andrew's Society held its yearly installation of officers last night in the club rooms on Tenth street. After the installation an entertaining program consisting of songs and speeches was given.

The installation services were performed by Rev. Dr. McLean, who made a few short, appropriate remarks concerning such office as he was installed. Dr. Edward Collins installed Dr. McLean as chaplain after a few complimentary remarks concerning the way he had filled the office in the past.

N. W. Leitch acted as chairman and toastmaster after his installation. The following was the order of exercises for the evening: Installation of officers; song, by H. D. Rowlands; toast, "St. Andrew's Day," responded to by Charles Kydd; song, by Robert Howell; address, "Temescal," by D. Edward Collins; remarks, by Rev. J. K. Ballingall; toast, "Our Mother Country," responded to by James Hutchinson; song, by Robert Howell. The remainder of the evening was passed in partaking of refreshments and singing Scotch songs.

The rooms of the society were tastefully decorated with flowers and greens for the occasion. A sprig of Scotch heather was placed beside each cover.

GAGE IS NOT IN FAVOR OF U. S. GRANT, JR.

Believes the San Diego Man Knifed Him.

Plain Talk Between the Two Men at the Palace Hotel.

The story is told that U. S. Grant, Jr., and Governor-elect Gage met in the court of the Palace Hotel yesterday. It is reported that the following interview took place:

"Mr. Gage," began the Senatorial aspirant, "I understand you are against the South in this Senatorial fight and are supporting a Northern California man."

"That is not true," replied Mr. Gage. "I am taking no part whatever in the Senatorial fight, nor do I intend to."

"But you are certainly not working in the interest of the southern part of the State."

"I certainly am not working against it; but even were I to take an active part in this fight and give my support to a Southern candidate, I would by no means feel in duty bound to give it to San Diego's choice."

"What do you mean?" demanded Mr. Grant in a loud voice. His face flushed and he was visibly excited.

Mr. Gage was not of the same temperament as the proverbial cucumber, as his thoughts reverted to the peculiarities of the vote in San Diego county at the recent election, and his voice, too, increased in volume as he replied:

"Simply this. I do not consider myself under any obligations whatever to you, for it has come to my ears from reliable sources that your money and your friends were used against me. In other words, I believe I did not receive fair treatment in San Diego county, and that you are responsible for it."

Mr. Grant appeared to be entirely satisfied with this explanation and turned away.

This is the substance of the interview. None of it was carried on in tones too low for the bystanders to hear, while the latter part was fairly shouted out by both gentlemen.

Mr. Gage was seen at his apartments in the Palace later in the day, but positively refused to talk about his interview with Mr. Grant, replying his questioner to that gentleman for information as to what was said. Mr. Grant was equally uncommunicative, and it remained for one of the bystanders to narrate the encounter.

Ex-Congressman Compton Dead.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

LAUREL, Md., Dec. 2.—Ex-Congressman Barnes Compton died at his home here to-day.

Every woman should realize that her health is like a bank account. At the outset she has so much deposited to her credit in the bank of health that she draws out her account. An over-drawn account in the bank of health means one of two things, a life of hopeless suffering or an early death.

The woman who neglects her health in a womanly way is making big drafts on her account with the bank of health and will soon be a physical bankrupt. Diseases of this description wreck a woman's general health quicker than anything else in the world. They soon transform a healthy, happy, amiable woman into a weak, sickly, fretful and despondent invalid. They utterly unfit a woman for wifehood or motherhood. For all disorders of this nature Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the best of all medicines. It acts directly on the delicate and important organs concerned in maternity, giving them health, strength, vigor and elasticity. It relieves pain, allays inflammation, checks debilitating drains, and restores all other symptoms. It once stops the dragging pains and sinking spells, the nervousness, the digestive disturbances and other complications that arise from the same cause. Taken during the months of expectant maternity, it banishes the usual discomforts and makes baby's advent easy and almost painless. It insures the new-comer's health and a plentiful supply of nourishment. Thousands of women have testified to its marvelous merits. An honest dealer will not suggest an inferior substitute for the sake of extra profit.

"Mr. Gage," began the Senatorial aspirant, "I understand you are against the South in this Senatorial fight and are supporting a Northern California man."

"That is not true," replied Mr. Gage. "I am taking no part whatever in the Senatorial fight, nor do I intend to."

"But you are certainly not working in the interest of the southern part of the State."

"I certainly am not working against it; but even were I to take an active part in this fight and give my support to a Southern candidate, I would by no means feel in duty bound to give it to San Diego's choice."

"What do you mean?" demanded Mr. Grant in a loud voice. His face flushed and he was visibly excited.

Mr. Gage was not of the same temperament as the proverbial cucumber, as his thoughts reverted to the peculiarities of the vote in San Diego county at the recent election, and his voice, too, increased in volume as he replied:

"Simply this. I do not consider myself under any obligations whatever to you, for it has come to my ears from reliable sources that your money and your friends were used against me. In other words, I believe I did not receive fair treatment in San Diego county, and that you are responsible for it."

Mr. Grant appeared to be entirely satisfied with this explanation and turned away.

This is the substance of the interview. None of it was carried on in tones too low for the bystanders to hear, while the latter part was fairly shouted out by both gentlemen.

Mr. Gage was seen at his apartments in the Palace later in the day, but positively refused to talk about his interview with Mr. Grant, replying his questioner to that gentleman for information as to what was said. Mr. Grant was equally uncommunicative, and it remained for one of the bystanders to narrate the encounter.

Her Mother Is Angry and Does Not Approve of the Match.

Miss Marie Schubert, the pretty and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Schubert of East Oakland, has surprised her many friends and created a sensation by leaving her home and secretly marrying Ralph G. Hoyt, a young man residing in San Francisco.

The young people met some months ago and a strong attachment sprang up between them; in fact it was a case of love at first sight with them both.

The mother of the girl was opposed to the match on account of the habits of the young lover, and tried in vain to separate them. Her pleadings were of no avail, and one sunny afternoon about two weeks ago the daughter slipped quietly away from her home and joined her lover and the two were married.

When the young lady did not return in the evening the mother was alarmed, but thought the girl was visiting friends and was unimpaired of the lateness of the hour. In glancing through the newspaper her eyes wandered over the marriage licenses issued and the story was told. The only daughter had gone away and married without the knowledge or consent of her parents.

The father of the bride is employed on the Morgan City and returned from Manila a short time ago. He was totally unaware of his daughter's intention to wed and was greatly surprised when she told of it.

The mother of the girl when seen to-day seemed heartbroken. She would not say much about the affair, but said she was afraid her daughter would soon find she had made a very grave mistake.

Mr. Hoyt did not possess a spotless reputation, she said, and for that reason, and for none other, she had opposed the match.

Mr. Hoyt is well connected, belonging to one of the representative families of San Francisco.

A MILITARY DICTATORSHIP FOR ECUADOR.

Owing to the attempts of the revolutionists to invade the country simultaneously from the Colombian and Peruvian frontiers, the Council of State has granted extraordinary powers to President Alfaro, who has assumed a dictatorship over the country.

JURY CHARGES MRS. BALKWELL WITH MURDER.

She Must Answer for the Death of Mrs. Fisher.

Facts Brought to Light at the Coroner's Inquest.

The Coroner's inquest into the cause of the death of Mrs. Martha Fisher was held in Berkeley last evening, the jury finding that death was due to a criminal operation performed by Mrs. Elizabeth Balkwell, who was charged with murder.

Dr. Ruben testified that the result of the autopsy showed positively that an operation had been performed. This testimony was confirmed by Drs. F. R. Woolsey and G. B. Roseland, and also by the statements made to Dr. Woolsey by deceased just before her death.

Julius Fisher, husband of deceased, testified that his wife had been in poor health. He also testified that when he accompanied her to San Francisco he was not aware of the fact that she consulted a physician taking any extreme measures at that time.

Marshall Lloyd of Berkeley testified to having arrested Mrs. Balkwell, who was now confined in the San Francisco City Prison, charged with the murder of Mrs. Fisher.

The schooner Gardiner City, Captain H. P. Palmer, was unloaded to sail at 12:30 P. M. with a Canadian crew. The captain had been informed that a crowd of union sailors were coming over from San Francisco to take his crew off, and he therefore asked for police protection.

The police waited about for some time, but as none of the expected union men put in an appearance, they left before the vessel sailed.

While the bark America was discharging coal at James P. Taylor's bunkers this forenoon, the huge steel bucket became unhooked and went crashing into the hold of the vessel.

Fortunately, no one was hurt, and no damage done further than the tearing away of a temporary wooden platform.

The escape of the men in the hold was due to the fact that as soon as they heard the first crash they ran back from the hatchway through which the bucket fell.

Enos Soule Towed Into Port.

Associated Press Dispatches by The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 2.—A dispatch from Cape Henry states that the barge Enos Soule, which broke away from the towing steamer Orion on Sunday night during the heavy gale, was towed into Cape Henry at 1 o'clock to-day by the British steamer Elton from Hull, for Baltimore. The crew is safe.

In Memoriam.

MRS. DEBORAH DYER.

Sometimes we know God kindly fills a place.

On earth with one of His Beloved to teach.

In tenderness, in gentle thoughts and speech.

The ways of those who hover near His place.

'Tis thus to all around her life has shown.

Such beauty—like a chalice potent.

In which a passing angel breathed perfume.

Her earthly presence gave from heaven's own.

And as into eternity slips time.

Bearing its crown of good, its weight of wrongs.

Its jeweled joys, its mournful, minor songs—

The world is sweeter for her life's sweet rhyme.

FRIDAY.....DECEMBER 2, 1898.

Keno has been declared in the Oakland Police Court not to be a gambling game. That's true enough in one way—there is no element of chance in it at all for the players. If they will stay with the game long enough the house will get all the money.

Advices from Manila say that all the soldiers are dreadfully home-sick. Who can blame them, with Christmas so near at hand? Just let the insurgents get ugly, though, and fighting start up again and you couldn't get a volunteer to go home if you paid him.

Having cornered all the oil in the country, John D. Rockefeller is now going after the copper, and if he lives long enough will probably gather in later on the silver and the gold. He believes in going "the whole hog or none," and he enacts the part of a hog to a nicety.

France has followed in Germany's footsteps and has denied admittance to our fruits and plants, according to advices from Paris yesterday. What is the matter with putting a retaliatory boycott on French wines—champagnes and so forth? That would soon bring them to their senses.

It looks now as if the reason the park boards were defeated was because the people did not properly understand the proposition. Now that they realize the opportunity they threw away it is evident that if they had another chance they would place themselves on record the right way.

Isaac D. Smead, the inventor of the Smead heating apparatus that was placed in the Oakland schools a few years ago, failed yesterday for a million dollars. He was "hot stuff" for awhile and seemed destined to become one of the leading millionaires of the country, but they froze him out.

Another snake-bite cure has been discovered. It is not a new brand of whisky, but a serum which, if injected within four hours after the person has been bitten, will prevent poisoning. The frontiersmen, though, will stick to the old red liquor cure—in some ways it seems to rob the bite of half its horrors.

Once again the old trick has been played of getting money from "good things" by promising them positions on the police force. In the fire department and so forth. Mr. Duckworth of San Francisco must have been an expert at the business to be able to gather into his net such shrewd individuals as Montgomery street note brokers.

McKinley is said to have taken a positive stand in his message against any and all plans whereby the United States shall interest itself in the Panama Canal instead of the Nicaraguan Canal. He is right. There is too much scandal and corruption associated with the De Lesseps affair for us to want to soil our hands with it. The Nicaraguan Canal is good enough for us. It is a clean-cut, straightforward business proposition, and that is what we want.

There will be few to grieve because Meadors, the soldier who killed Corporal Ury at Camp Barrett, has been sentenced to ten years' hard labor at Leavenworth military prison for his offense. If Rosser ultimately succeeds in getting an acquittal from the trial jury for the murder of Hildebrandt it is to be hoped that the army authorities will take his case up and give him the same dose they have administered to Meadors.

Fruitvale should not try the incorporation project again, but should come right out and be annexed to Oakland. It is to all intents and purposes a part of the city already, and the residents there are foolish not to avail themselves of the many privileges they would derive from being part of the municipality, such as police and fire protection, good sewerage and so forth. They could gain all these advantages for a much less sum than they are paying now to be without them, so it is hard to see what is holding them back.

MUNICIPAL REFORM.

The National Municipal League, which has been holding its annual session in Indianapolis this week, has been discussing many matters of interest to those who seek reform in local politics. One of the most notable features presented consisted of the report of the special committee appointed a year ago to investigate and make recommendations for the seven members comprising it gave the subject a very thorough overhauling and arrived at some conclusions which, though simple, appear to be founded on very sensible bases. Summarized they are as follows:

1. A separation of local from State and National elections.
2. A reduction in the number of elective offices.
3. The abolition of the straight party ticket in the official ballot and the adoption of the Massachusetts system.
4. The rescue of the election machinery from the hands of the corrupt and inefficient by the election of honest and competent men to be election officers.

Of these four findings the last needs no discussion, for upon its face it must be endorsed by all except those at whom it is aimed. The first three, though, are of a nature that will certainly engender a wide variety of views.

As regards the separation of local from State and National elections, while it is true that many benefits would arise as a result of preventing party trades, it must at the same time be remembered that the item of expense is an important one. When, as at our recent election, the State and county tickets are chosen at the one balloting the expenses are consolidated, for if held separately it would cost about as much to handle a local election as it does a State one, that is from a local standpoint. Election proclamations would have to be issued in each instance, there would be two sets of election officials, the printing bills would be doubled and so on all along the line. Under the present system, though, the items are all unified, so the saving to the tax-payers is an important one.

As for the second finding—a reduction in the number of election officers—the proposed change is one that is now getting a thorough test in New York City, where most of the offices that were formerly elective are now appointed. The results are said to be good, but that is a matter that requires careful exploiting later on.

The abolition of straight party tickets, as proposed in the third finding, is a suggestion that is not likely to meet with general approval. The people, as a rule, like to see the Democrats, Republicans and Populists meet and select their candidates, and those outside Independent and Civic Reform Leagues do not meet with much favor. Better results, too, should be obtained that way than by go-as-you-please nominations, for party prestige is tied up in each candidate placed upon the ticket, and more strenuous efforts are, therefore, made to select the best men.

The National League deserves to be commended, however, for the energetic manner in which it is striving to reach the existing abuses, and the more attention and discussion given to the subject the sooner the ends sought will be attained. No one questions the necessity for municipal reforms—the point is, which is the best way to bring them about.

Edward Bok, the manager of the Ladies' Home Journal, says that its circulation is now so vast that efforts are being made to hold it down, because it is impossible to print so many papers. After New Year's, he says, the task will be commenced in grim earnest of endeavoring to keep its circulation within bounds. Some of his contemporary magazine brethren must turn green with envy when they read his statement, especially as they know that there is a good deal of truth attached to it.

The Sacramento Record-Union calls attention in a tabulated article to the changed condition of affairs that will exist at the approaching session of the Legislature. Instead of having patronage representing $1,826 per day to distribute, the Republican Senators and Assemblymen will have to make $106 go around. To make matters worse, there is a big party majority in each branch of the Legislature, so things look decidedly blue for the place seekers.

Under the terms of the treaty the United States assumes the burden of all the claims made against Spain by American citizens for losses to property and personal damage in Cuba. These bills are said to foot up over $25,000,000, but in view of the chance of creditors, there is nothing likely to come of most of them.

China's proposition regarding the highbinders is one that we should jump at, for it furnishes the best solution possible of the problem that has been worrying our police departments for years past. It consists in getting us to negotiate an extradition treaty as regards criminals, whereupon the Chinese government will take upon itself the trouble and expense of ferreting out the highbinders here and returning them to China. The move is doubtless the result of the efforts of the Chinese merchants and better elements of the race here, who realize that their interests are jeopardized by the outbreak that may occur at any moment as a result of the highbinder outrages. In such an event the innocent would suffer with the guilty, and they don't want to take any chances of having things happen that way.

Mr. Gemain, the American Consul at Zurich, who is now visiting his home in Los Angeles, says that the European market for American fruits is on the upgrade all the time and that our products are very much in demand all over the continent. He cites as a notable instance in this regard the land of Switzerland, where his consulate is located. Four years ago it imported but $700 worth of California dried fruits, and last year like imports figured up $720,000.

Captain Merry, our Minister to Nicaragua, has officially notified the State Department that "The United States of Central America" is a thing of the past. It might have been known from the first that there was no more chance of keeping Honduras, Salvador and Nicaragua harmoniously together than there would be to preserve the peace in a den of wildcats.

General Wood having purified Santiago from a sanitary standpoint, is going to try and do likewise from a moral one. The daily lottery that used to run there he suppressed long ago, and now he has issued an order suppressing gambling in any form. The Spaniards will begin to appreciate the fact that they can neither fight nor "play."

"It's an ill wind that blows nobody good," but it is hard to find any one who benefited by the big gale on the Atlantic Coast this week. In addition to the heavy losses of life and property, now come the marine underwriters with a wail that the storm has cost them $1,000,000. It is indeed a knock-out "blow" for them.

If the reports from the Philippines via Madrid are true, the expected has happened as regards the insurgents, for it is announced that they have received the news of the cession of the islands to America with the declaration that they will fight for their independence to the last. Now keep your eye on Dewey.

VIENNA, Dec. 2.—Emperor Francis Joseph today, upon the fiftieth anniversary of his accession to the throne, issued a general order to the army, thanking the soldiers for their loyalty and fearless valor throughout his reign and declaring that he will ever look upon the army as the shield and protector of the throne and fatherland. Amnesty has been granted to political offenders in Hungary, and a number of decorations have been granted. All the newspapers, without distinction as to politics, published extras extolling the Austrian Emperor as the guardian of European peace.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.
PLYMOUTH, Mass., Dec. 2.—There seems to be no means at present of ascertaining the identity of the wreck which was discovered on Rock Hill ledge last Tuesday.

The wreck appears to be that of a good-sized vessel. No cargo has come ashore, and no bodies have been seen. Nothing has been found that apparently belongs to the submerged vessel.

Gale Damages Torpedo Boats.
BRISTOL, R. I., Dec. 2.—The torpedo boats Dupont and Morris came in here last night under their own steam, but considerably damaged. Both will have several new plates put in.

A number of my friends in Ohio, Michigan and here in Canada have been greatly benefited by discarding coffee and using Postum. BRANDES HEARS THE EVIDENCE IN THE COURT.

Strong Testimony Being Given Against the Accused.

Witnesses Heard Him Beating
His Daughter.

The preliminary examination of W. A. Brandes, charged with the murder of his daughter, was resumed this morning at 10:30 o'clock in Judge O'Brien's court. The prisoner was brought in a few minutes before the court convened. He held a long consultation with his attorneys, offering many suggestions of points which might have a beneficial bearing on his case.

W. J. Richardson, colored, a neighbor of the Brandes family, was the first witness put on the stand. He testified that on Tuesday evening, November 15th, between 8 o'clock and 9 o'clock he heard a noise in the Brandes house as if some one was receiving a beating, and that there were sounds of furniture being knocked about. He said: "I heard a clumping and sounds as if some one was getting beaten, and as if the door was being knocked. Then I heard a child's voice cry 'Oh, Ah, Oh, Ah, Don't!'"

Then Brandes said: "You, if you don't find that money I will choke you." I then rushed out of the house and saw Louis Long and my wife sitting on the front steps of my house. A piano was being played in the Brandes house. After a few moments there was more clumping and noise and I saw the furniture being knocked about. I then went to the door and saw the Brandes family being beaten. I then went to the door and saw the Brandes family being beaten.

The next witness called was Louis Long, who resides on Telegraph avenue near the Brandes place. His testimony was in general the same as that given by Richardson. He said he was sitting on the front steps of the Richardson home when he heard a noise which seemed to be in the front part of Brandes' house. When he heard the child's voice cry out he concluded that she was being beaten. Then he heard a noise as if some one was running down stairs, and a piano playing. He said that from the sound of the piano playing he concluded that it was Brandes at the instrument. After he heard the sound as if some one was falling down stairs he said he saw through the window of a window the shadow of two people, and recognized the form of Brandes but could not distinguish who was with him. He then heard a door being locked and then sounds as if a child was crying. He said that he was not certain that these were the exact words, as the sounds were somewhat muffled.

The court then adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

CHIVALRY OF A BRITISH TAR IN SOUTH SEAS.

Captured Maidens Are Rescued From a
Frenchman.

Twelve Blushing Beauties
Carried Off by a Buccaneer.

Associated Press Dispatches by
The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.
VANCOUVER, B. C., Dec. 2.—The British warship "Mildred" has returned from a six months' cruise to the New Hebrides, doing patrol duty, with the French warship "Fute" as a side partner. After the war vessels had amused themselves making bonfires of a few villages in the New Hebrides, in revenge for the massacre of British Consul James Duncan, they went together to the French Hebrides. At Aoba the gallant British commander learned the daughter of the chief had been carried off by the French cutter "Port Des Pointes," which was then a black speck on the expanse of blue. The French commander said he would see the cruel wrong to the chief righted. The Britisher resented this and said: "No, sir, this is my affair, and I am going to see it righted." He crowded on full steam, and before night had overhauled the cutter and secured the young girl from the buccaneer Frenchman, besides twelve other native maidens. The heavy of the French maidens was transferred to the "Fute" and taken home. They stayed through an interpreter that some of them were bought from their parents. Others were seized and carried away.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—The Seventh Regiment, California volunteers, is a thing of the past. The regiment was mustered out of the service of the United States here today. At an early hour the regiment began to break camp at Camp Evans, at Annapolis, Md., and at 9 o'clock the first battalion, under Major Welser, marched out of the gates and to the armory on Spring street in this city.

There the men were handed their pay for three months and their discharge papers and set free. The out-of-town companies were discharged first. The other battalions were marched to the armory during the day and the soldiers discharged.

A PECULIAR REMEDY.
Something About the New Discovery for Curing Dyspepsia.

The Rev. F. I. Bell, a highly esteemed minister residing in Weedsport, Cayuga county, New York, in a recent letter writes as follows: "There has never been anything that I have taken that has relieved the Dyspepsia from which I have suffered for ten years except the new remedy called Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. Since taking them I have had no distress at all after eating and again after long years can sleep well. Rev. F. I. Bell, Weedsport, New York, formerly, Idaho, Colorado."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is a remarkable remedy, not only because it is a certain cure for all forms of indigestion, but because it seems to act as thoroughly in old chronic cases of dyspepsia as well as in mild attacks of indigestion or biliousness. A person has dyspepsia simply because the stomach is OVERWORKED, all it wants is a harmless, vegetable remedy to digest the food and thus give it the much needed REST.

This is the secret of the success of this peculiar remedy. No matter how weak or how much disordered the digestion may be, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets WILL DIGEST THE FOOD WHETHER THE STOMACH WORKS OR NOT. New life and energy is given not only to the stomach but to every organ and nerve in the body. A trial of this splendid medicine will convince the most skeptical that Dyspepsia and all stomach troubles CAN BE CURED. The tablets are prepared by the F. A. Stuart Company, of Marshall, Michigan, but so popular has the remedy become that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can now be obtained at any drug store at 50 cents per package. Send for book on stomach diseases free.

LIGHT AND SHADE. What Several Women Who Saw Dark Shadows Have to Say.

"In every shadow she saw a ghost." These words described the condition a woman driven almost to hysteria by worry. Not by some overwhelming shock, but by the endless little irritations of life which wear out the body as the constant friction of a pulley wears out the stoutest rope.

There is nothing more firmly settled in medicine than that the fretting inseparable from the home-keeping life of women strikes at every important part of the physical machinery, particularly at the kidneys and adjacent organs.

When these organs go wrong the heart beats are irregular, and there is pain in the breast. A bad taste in the mouth, and heaviness in the stomach, and indigestion. Dots dance before the eyes and the hands and feet are like lumps of ice. Small wonder is it that women so afflicted get nervous and fanciful, and start at shadows. What is to be done? Let these women answer.

Mrs. C. N. Dushane of Vineland, Me., writes under date of July 6, 1898: "I was badly troubled with my back and kidneys so that I could scarcely bear to have my clothing touch me. I lost flesh and appetite. A lady in the same hotel gave me some good advice. I followed it; the pain stopped, my strength returned and I am entirely cured, wholly by the use of Warner's Safe Cure."

Margaret Hammond of Fairplay, Ark., wrote, March 10, 1898: "I suffered with kidney trouble for two years, and tried doctors' medicine and everything I could hear of, but I got no relief until I bought a supply of Warner's Safe Cure, which made me sound and well. I can highly recommend this medicine."

"I am thankful to say that Warner's Safe Cure has done great wonders for me. I would not be without it. I was sick for two years until I got this wonderful Safe Cure. I am well now. I tell everybody I can about this great medicine."

So wrote Mrs. Hattie Mowery of Tarkio, Mo., May 22, 1898. No advocate's pleading can add to the testimony. The great American people are the jury, and their verdict places Warner's Safe Cure above all other medicines for diseases of the kidneys, bladder and liver.

ANNEXATION DECISION DELAYS IMPROVEMENTS.

Taxpayers Are Anxious City Council Discuss to Have the Matter Settled.

At the meeting of the Street Committee of the Council last night all the members were present save Mr. Watkinson, the chair being occupied by the chairman, Mr. Henneberry.

The first question considered was the bituminizing of Sixteenth street between San Pablo avenue and Telegraph avenue, which had been recommended by Superintendent of Streets Miller, as against the re-macadamizing of the same. A partial canvass by mail had been made of the property owners on the thoroughfare. The responses showed that few people had answered the queries on the subject, and that three property owners favored bitumen, one property owner favored macadam, and one more favored bitumen, but, at the same time, he was unable to pay for that kind of improvement.

Mr. Woodward said that Sixteenth street was a busy thoroughfare and ought to be bituminized.

Mr. Earl said that that was all right, but neither Mr. Woodward nor himself had to pay for the improvement. It was the property owners who had to do that, and he would like to know what they had to say about the matter.

The clerk said that the property owners had protested against the bituminizing before and they would probably do so again.

Mr. Earl suggested that the matter be laid over till the next meeting, so that they might be able to recommend it with the property owners' consent.

Mr. Henneberry said there would certainly be a protest, and coincided with Mr. Earl in the matter of laying the matter over till the next meeting. He asserted that some of the people were opposed to paying even $5 in front of their lots for the readdressing of the streets.

The matter was laid over.

The re-macadamizing of a number of streets was then brought up. It was thought that a protest against the work would be filed in a number of instances, but it was decided to recommend that the work be done on several streets, with a view to ascertaining what the property owners would do in the premises. The streets so recommended were as follows: Twelfth avenue, from East Eleventh to East Twelfth streets; Sixth avenue, from East Eleventh to East Twelfth streets; Third avenue, from Eleventh to Eleventh streets; Fourth avenue, from Twelfth to Twelfth streets; Seventh avenue, from Eleventh to Twelfth streets; Eleventh, from Tenth to Twelfth streets; and Jackson, from Fifth to Eleventh streets.

Mr. Earl said that the following streets were laid over: Fifth, from Alameda to Eleventh streets; Fifth, from Cypress to Eleventh streets; Eleventh, from Eleventh to Twelfth streets; and Eleventh, from Eleventh to Twelfth streets.

With respect to the last mentioned street, Mr. Henneberry said that it was a part of one of the thoroughfares on which the Oakland Transit Company had abandoned the franchise, and as the trucks would have to be taken up, it would be time enough to know what the people would do with regards to the improvement of the street after the trucks had been taken up.

Mr. Earl then said that he desired to state that Mr. Watkinson's absence was occasioned by the illness of his son, and it had not been for that circumstance, he (the speaker) would have made his appearance earlier at the meeting.

Then came up the protest of the Adeline Sanitary District, against the sewerage into its drain by the residents on Alameda avenue, Raymond and other streets in that vicinity.

This brought up the question of the legality of the recent annexation of the districts north of the city. The project was based on the fact that the people in the Adeline Sanitary District had paid, for their sewer, and they could not see why others outside the district should be allowed to use that conduit without cost to themselves.

Mr. Earl said there was no necessity of entering into a discussion of the case. Unless the property owners wanted to pay for the privilege of receiving, he did not think it was necessary to go into details.

Somebody suggested that the question of the annexation election was still in litigation.

Mr. Earl said he had raised that point. He thought the matter ought to be laid over until it could be decided in the courts. He did not know how the courts would decide.

Mr. Henneberry suggested that they might hear from the people present who were interested in the subject. The Adeline Sanitary District said that they had built a sanitary sewer 1,000 feet long and for its construction the district had assumed the burden of expense, and the other people now wanted to make use of that sewer without expense to themselves.

Councilman Woodward said that the city had counted the votes in that district as being within the city, and the Council was going to continue in the work of improvement until the illegality of the annexation should be declared by the courts.

Mr. Earl said that if the matter had been decided by the courts it would be all right, but, as it had not been so decided, there was no use putting the people to expense until such a decision should be obtained.

Mr. Porter said that there was just that conflict of authority that made the annexation uncertain. All the points in the protest were involved in the suit.

Mr. Henneberry said it was desirable to get a sewer to the Alameda school, and the matter was before the Council the points raised had not been discussed.

Mr. Porter wanted to know what would be done if contractors bid on the work.

Mr. Earl said he did not suppose that a contractor could be got to bid on the work.

One of the delegation of taxpayers said that the sewer did not go near the Alameda school.

Mr. Earl said that the sewer was going in that direction, and that the street named for the improvement would eventually bring the sewer to the school.

The clerk said that the proposed work was simply preliminary to reaching the school.

Mr. Earl suggested the indefinite postponement of the matter and that the resolution of intention to sewer the streets mentioned be rescinded.

Mr. Barney said he was one of the petitioners who desired the sewer connection. He had learned that they had been taken into Oakland, but he did not discover the fact until his property had been sold for taxes, and that had cost him an extra sum. If he was taxed out there, then he was in the district. He and his fellow petitioners were there, not to intrude on others, but to contend for their rights. He did not know why they should be ignored. The petition included Alameda, as well as Raymond street and other adjacent thoroughfares. That would get the sewer to the school house. He understood that the engineer had been out there and that they could get an outlet in the main sewer.

Mr. Henneberry said that there was no question that the sewer was greatly needed there.

One of the protestants said that everything seemed to be so uncertain that the annexation question was still in the courts.

The secretary of the district stated that the residents there had taxed themselves for the sewer and that they had to pay for it for seventeen years yet. Last year the district was $5 cents, this year it was 25 cents, and yet others wanted to get in for nothing.

Mr. Earl's motion to postpone the subject indefinitely and rescind the resolution then prevailed.

The final report of the commissioners in the matter of the opening of East Twenty-first street was recommended for approval.

The Adeline subject was then conveyed by Mr. Earl to the Board of Health of Oakland had any right to go out there and insist on a certain kind of sewer and improvements.

Mr. Henneberry said he did not think it had.

Sanitary Inspector Smith said that the City Attorney had said that the Board of Health had that authority.

Mr. Henneberry said the City Attorney was not always right.

Mr. Meyer declared that the people out there did not know where they were located.

Mr. Earl said that the Council did not say they were in Oakland, yet the Secretary of State had said they were in Oakland. The matter had been taken to the Supreme Court, and they had to wait until they heard from that tribunal.

Mr. Meyer said that, in the meantime, they were subject to the Health Officer, and he (the speaker) had been ordered to do by him.

Mr. Smith said that he had only done what he was compelled to in filling up a cesspool.

Another resident of the district, referring to the cesspool, stated that he had been compelled to stand the obnoxious thing adjacent to his home when he himself had filled up eight cesspools on his premises.

Mr. Earl remarked that the latter speaker's property must be housecleaned with cesspools.

That closed the discussion.

The ordinance changing the name of Twenty-first street between Telegraph avenue and San Pablo avenue to Jones street, and Twenty-first street between Telegraph avenue and Lake Merritt, to Walnut or Twenty-second street was recommended for passage.

The resolution to sewer eastern avenue to Vernon avenue was laid over because of inadequacy of description.

The question of the right of J. C. and Edson F. Adams to fence off a part of old Lake Merritt was laid over because of the instance of Mr. Earl, who made the request in the name of certain gentlemen who were unable to be present at the meeting.

Mr. Woodward said that the Engineer had been ordered to establish the metes and bounds of Lake Merritt, and that he had already done some of the work, and that, so far as that was concerned, some of the shore could now be filled, but the matter ought to go over in committee.

The petition of Easton & Wilson to sewer East Nineteenth street from Point 22 feet eastward of Twenty-third street was recommended, Mr. Easton showing that his firm had the consent of all the property owners save one, and the firm would see that the work was carried out.

The request of the same firm to grade, curb and macadamize East Twentieth street between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth avenues was recommended.

The petition for a sewer on West street between Fourth and Forty-first streets was recommended.

It was recommended that Hillhouse & Reardon bituminize First street between Broadway and Franklin street, providing they secure the consent of all the property owners.

The petition to grade, curb and macadamize Twenty-third street from Bush to Pine streets, and West street from Twenty-second street 100 feet northward was recommended.

The sewer of Pearl street from West on avenue to 22 feet northward; Bush street from John to Webster; West avenue from Telegraph to Gold; Gold street between West on avenue and 400 feet northward; Grove street from Thirty-sixth to Fortieth was recommended.

The proposition to sewer Piedmont avenue from the termination of the sewer on Piedmont avenue to Amherst street was laid over.

The question of the First-street Intersecting sewer went over, and Mr. Henneberry said he would take the members of the Council down there some day to see what an abomination a broken conduit could be.

AUDITING AND FINANCE.

Bills were approved by the Auditing and Finance Committee as follows: Frank Smith, scarlet fever guard, $23.10; Phoenix Foundry, for rock tests, $22.50; J. J. Harty, fireman, wages for fifteen days while laid up by a kick from horse, $27.00; repairing truck No. 1, Schult Bros., $25.

The bill of William McCurdy, extramural, as wages during illness, amounting to $17, was laid over.

STREET LIGHT COMMITTEE.

The Street Light Committee recommended a lamp at the southwest corner of Thirtieth and West streets.

With respect to the proposed light at the Sixteenth-street depot, Mr. Cuvelier said that the Oakland Gas, Light and Coke Company had entered into a contract with the Southern Pacific Company to furnish the latter light for four years, and that the lamp in question would be supplied if permission could be had to connect it with the wire so the mole.

The request for a lamp at East Nineteenth street and Seventh avenue was laid over.

The resolutions calling for a statement from the water companies as regards expenses, expenditures, value of plant and revenue were brought up.

The clerk said that Mr. Peingle had said that they did not ask for all the information desired.

Mr. Earl said that Mr. Peingle was a lawyer, but he was asking more than he could get.

The clerk said the resolutions called for all allowed by law.

The resolutions were then recommended.

This gentleman, who was somewhat facetious as well as dyspeptic, used to say that he had his ticket engaged for a passage over the Styx. He had dieted for years until his wife said he had nearly come down to drinking dew and eating rose leaves. Now it happened that one day he had a dinner invitation which he really wanted to accept and he was induced to make trial of Ripans Tablets, because he had seen their wonderful effect advertised so much. He began three days in advance, taking one after each meal, then he went to the dinner and allowed himself full swing; but took two Tablets afterward. Next morning he found himself all right and very soon a lady neighbor was heard to ask him: "What have you been doing to your husband lately? He is looking fine!" He had not eaten a good dinner for three years before that night, but now his friendly relations with turkey have been resumed and in the exuberance of his new liberty he cultivates pie and, in fact, has a tendency to sample everything there is going.

Suit was today filed in the District Court by Morton Jourdan, asking a receiver for 1,500 Gillett cows and their calves of the "K" brand near Harrison. The petition states that last July Gillett gave mortgages on said cattle to Elmore & Co., of Kansas City, for $25,000 due November 18th; that they were then extended and additional notes for $2,000 given, and the notes were all endorsed and sold by Elmore & Co. to plaintiff; that Thomas Kinnehan, claims to own the cattle, and the National Bank of Commerce, Kansas City, the First National Bank, St. Louis, William Thomas and O. W. Pratt claim interest in the herd, divided under Kinnehan, and that the cattle are suffering from lack of care and deteriorating in value.

George M. Rogers was appointed receiver by the Probate Judge, in the absence of the District Judge, and went to Harrison at once to take charge of the stock. Nothing has been heard here or at Woodbine of Gillett's capture.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 2.—Interested stockmen today still declare positively that Grant C. Gillett, the absconding Kansas cattle king, is under arrest at a point just above the main border. His exact whereabouts are kept a secret by those who claim to know them, for fear, it is stated, that a scramble to secure a portion of the thousands of dollars Gillett is said to have taken with him, will ensue.

In addition to the detective sent by local first last night with a warrant for Gillett's arrest on a charge of obtaining $10,000 on fraudulent representations, J. S. Hollinger, one of the heaviest losers on Gillett paper, today swore out a warrant charging the runaway cattle feeder with forgery. A detective bearing this warrant will be sent to Mexico immediately, according to state the exact nature of the forgery.

GOV. TANNER WILL NOT TALK.

CHICAGO, Dec. 2.—Governor Tanner, who was indicted by the Macopin county Grand Jury for omission of duty in connection with the Virden riots, refused today to talk on the subject stating his belief that it was nothing but a political scheme.

NO DANGER OF AN INDIAN OUTBREAK.

Associated Press Dispatches by Wire.

The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Dec. 2.—C. R. A. Schober, Indian agent at the Fort Beck agency in Montana, telegraphs from Popular Mont., to the general office of the Indian agencies here:

"There is absolutely no foundation for the reported danger of an outbreak of Indians so far as this agency is concerned. I left Helena last night, and have seen reliable parties from the Blackfoot and Belknap agencies, and I am fully satisfied that there is not the slightest danger of trouble at any point."

DR. PATERSON STILL AFTER HIS MONEY.

A revival of the old legal feud between Dr. E. M. Paterson and Dr. W. C. Harrington was commenced today when the former filed a complaint against Dr. W. C. Harrington and Louisa S. Harrington, his wife, together with William S. Harrington, charging them with conspiring to so manipulate Dr. Harrington's property that the plaintiff cannot recover the $175,000 judgment given by Judge Greene for alleged medical services.

Charges of fraud and collusion are frequent in the legal instrument. Dr. Paterson commenced suit against Dr. Harrington to recover $10,000 for medical services, alleged to have been performed upon the wife. Dr. Harrington maintained that the treatment was all given as a professional favor, interchange of services being frequent among physicians. But the court did not recognize professional etiquette, and judgment was given in the 9th of last May for $175,000 costs.

In the complaint filed today Paterson avers that the three defendants met in collusion and transferred all the valuable property belonging to Harrington to a brother, W. S. Harrington, without compensation, for the sole purpose of divesting themselves of property to meet the court's judgment. It is therefore sought to recover the property and to secure the rents now being paid on the premises.

FARRAGUT NOW MEETS SPEED REQUIREMENT.

The Tribune's Special Leased Wire.

Associated Press Dispatches by Wire.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 2.—The torpedo boat Farragut had her official trial on the bay to-day and succeeded in exceeding the required speed of thirty knots by .18 of a knot, her unofficial time being 30.18. The official time will not be given out for a day or so yet.

FRUIT GROWERS WIND UP THEIR WORK AT FRESNO.

FRESNO, Dec. 2.—At the Fruit Growers' State Convention today further time was allowed a committee for a conference between the manufacturers and University authorities for the framing of legislation to regulate the sale of commercial fertilizers.

W. N. Rawley submitted a list of seventeen of the principal commission merchants and receivers of fruits and fruit products in San Francisco who have expressed their opinion of the value of State inspection and a quarantine law for fresh fruit, particularly apples and pears.

M. Theo. Kearney read a paper on the raisin industry, showing how, through the operation of the combine, there has already been sold this year 2,400 of the raisin crop of 3,000 carloads and the market has taken up 1,600 more carried over from 1897. The Eastern market has been steady at highest prices, and no stocks at distributing points. The trade has freely bought on the guarantee that prices will be held up. Sales with few exceptions have been made for cash before shipment. Shortly after delivery an advance of 2 cents per pound has been made. An additional 1 cent is being paid on certain grades, with more to come at the final proportion, so that net results for the whole crop will be about 3 1/2 cents per pound in the sweet box, while last year an average net return of 1 1/2 cents per pound was realized. Under a makeshift plan and a costly, with commercial raisins, $1,000,000 more has been realized to raisin growers this year than they could have possibly secured for their crops without this organization.

The scheme of the pool and its application to other fruit industries were discussed and endorsed.

San Jose was chosen for the convention of 1899.

DISINTERMENT OF THE DEAD POSTPONED.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 2.—The War Department has decided to adopt at once the suggestion of General Wood, in command at San Jacinto, that the removal of the remains of American soldiers from that section of Cuba be deferred until February at the earliest. While it is fully realized that this postponement will bring great disappointment to the friends and relatives of the dead soldiers, the officials believe they have no right to expose to the horrors and vexatious delay of the large population of Santiago and neighboring towns from a mere sentimental consideration.

The department had advanced very well in the preparation of plans for the removal of the remains of the combined soldiers to the work of disinterment almost immediately. It had employed the services of an expert named Rhodes, who had thoroughly gone over the ground at Santiago and arranged the details of the plan.

For some time past the department has been granting permits for the removal of the remains of individual soldiers, provided the relatives of the soldiers furnished a metallic casket which could be hermetically sealed, and the removal of the remains of contagious diseases into the United States.

BARGES LOST AND TEN MEN ARE DROWNED.

NEW YORK, Dec. 2.—The coal barges Halcyon, Quinabaugh and Corsica, it has just been learned, were lost during the recent storm, with ten of the twelve men who composed their crews of four each.

The barges Halcyon and Quinabaugh, loaded with coal, in tow of the ocean tug Ocean King, and the Corsica, in tow of the tug Luckenbach, left Norfolk on November 23rd for New England ports. They encountered the gale in all its force.

When about thirty-five miles off Brooklyn, the Corsica broke from her tow and was lost, followed by the Halcyon, and of eight men composing the two crews, six were drowned. The Quinabaugh, being the rear tow, was lost sight of. It was feared that the tug had been wrecked, but it was not until Sunday night of last week that the tug was sighted by a four-man crew. The tug was reported to have been wrecked and the crew of four men were rescued.

SUICIDE IN LOS ANGELES.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 2.—Roscoe Huntington, aged 51, who claimed to be a nephew of Collis Huntington and a cousin of H. E. Huntington, committed suicide last night in the Louise lodging house on Broadway, with morphine. The deceased came to this city about a year ago with considerable money. He was an expert accountant, and expected to get employment in the Southern Pacific office here, but was disappointed. He left orders to forward some of his belongings to a son, J. M. Huntington, of Norfolk, Va.

BERKELEY IS LOOKING FOR HARDER GAME.

The Football Team May Play the Wisconsin Champions.

The Alameda Trustees Must Appoint a Successor to Marshal Rogers.

George Cadwallader, the great Yale center, who is now attending the Hastings Law School in San Francisco, and who has been assisting Coachman in training the University eleven gratuitously during the past season, has been made an honorary member of the Theta Nu Epsilon at college. Cochran, recently honored by initiation into this national sportsman society, and now both of the football men wear the prized silver skull and keys.

The great victory of the California eleven over Stanford on Thanksgiving has led Manager Brown to search for new fields to conquer. Some thought has been given toward taking the team north to play the athletic clubs of Berkeley and Seattle, but the team must in mind to one East. Manager Brown is desirous that the team should meet Wisconsin, the champion of the Middle West, and some stops have been taken to that end. Yesterday a telegram was received from the football management of the University of Wisconsin inquiring as to the advisability of a Western trip by that team. The inquiry will not be answered until something definite is done concerning the northern trip.

The day after Christmas the University musical clubs will leave on their southern concert tour. They will be gone probably two weeks and a half.

The sale of seats for the Junior farce to begin at the Macdonough Theater tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock has already reached the limit of the theater's seating capacity, 1,700. The evening the performance will be given at Reed's Hall in Oakland.

The farwell reception to Coach Cochran which began yesterday afternoon culminated last night in a scene the like of which has never before been enacted on the college campus. Eleven hundred students, led by Captain Percy Hall of the band, arrayed in fantastic garb, and as the flames shot skyward.

At once there rose so wild a yell, as though the floods from heaven that fell.

Had pealed the banner cry of—

The place untenable to ears polite.

For hours the great victory over Stanford was celebrated by singing, yelling and cheering, the grave and reverend college professors looking on approvingly. Cochran was obliged to make a speech, which, checked by the cheering and enthusiasm, was somewhat of a failure.

There are some hoarse throats in the University today, but their owners realize that such an opportunity to give vent to their enthusiasm doesn't occur every year.

ALAMEDA NEWS.

The question of a successor to City Marshal Rogers, whose resignation will be presented to the City Trustees next Monday evening, is a rather embarrassing one. The Trustees had not decided to appoint a successor to Mr. Rogers as they thought that none of the candidates for the office should be given the advantage over the others that the appointment would confer before the election. It was decided to leave the matter open until their purpose was clear.

1895, 1896 and 1897, prepared at my own expense annual statements showing receipts and expenditures of the several departments of the county government, and the statement therein appears that the citizens of this county would not have the benefit of such a statement for the year 1898, because of my inability to submit the expense of the same, and regrets were expressed that there was no provision of law by which the preparation of such a statement for the year 1898 could be made a county charge.

"Applying the fact that the majority of the voters of Alameda county supported me and endorsed my administration by re-electing me to the office of County Clerk; more than grateful for such support, and in spite of malignant attacks and gross misrepresentation, as an evidence of my appreciation to the voters who have stood by me so loyally, I feel prompted to send and shall prepare and present at the earliest moment, a detailed and as perfect a statement of the receipts and expenditures of the county for the year 1898 as I can make—such a document as will be of interest to, and of value to those interested in seeing the county's affairs properly and carefully administered. Very sincerely yours,

"FRANK C. JORDAN,"
County Clerk.

TYPESETTERS

RACE AT THE EXPOSITION.

Trades and Labor Day Draws Large Crowds.

Mizumos Japanese Cleverly Perform Their Daring Feats.

The feature of Trades and Labor Day at the Exposition was a type-setting contest participated in by four speedy typists of this city. The time limit was an hour, and the prize $10 for first and $5 for second. Miss Evelyn Keyser won handsily. Her record was 1322 ems. John C. Bohle finished second with 1200 ems. E. E. Cordy and August Koster were third and fourth, their respective records being 1082 and 1040. Brevier type was used, and the measure was seventeen ems wide.

Alfred Wikke entertained his auditors with two solos excellently rendered. He was loudly applauded. Miss Gladys Downs acted as accompanist.

Mizumos Japanese again demonstrated their wonderful skill in acrobatic performance to the delight of the crowd of spectators. Their clever balancing feats on the pole, high-wire and break-away ladder were very fine.

To-day is Grand Army Day at the Fair. It is expected to make this the biggest event of the world show. Attractions peculiar to old soldiers will be introduced, a camp fire, camp songs and war stories being among them. Mayor Thomas will make an address, and other prominent men will participate. The special programme will be presented both afternoon and evening.

On Composers' Night, to-morrow evening, there will be produced compositions for orchestra, voice and orchestra, accompaniment, piano and voice, with piano accompaniment, by John W. Metcalf, Oscar Wolf, Theodore Vogt, John C. Walling, Mrs. Alma Crowley, and others.

ROYAL BATTLE OVER SENATORSHIP

De Young Tells of Spreckels Gives W.F. Herrin's Details of an Interview.

Col. Dan Burns Is Now Under the Full Fire of the Two Editors.

The contest for United States Senator is now assuming a very personal character. It is going to be a battle royal to a finish. Editors Spreckels and De Young are telling what they know of Colonel Dan Burns' candidacy. Here is the story of the two editors:

MR. DE YOUNG'S VIEWS.
"I am more than willing," said Mr. De Young yesterday, "that the facts should be known, as I believe that the general public is entitled to a full knowledge of the manner in which a great corporation is attempting to secure for one of its political servants a seat in the United States Senate."

"About ten days ago Mr. Herrin, chief counsel of the Southern Pacific Company, came to me and told me that he had been requested by George Crocker, vice-president of the Southern Pacific Company, to tell me that I would be permitted to name the next United States Senator. I thanked Mr. Herrin for the honor conferred upon me and said that I had not yet made up my mind as to who, in my opinion, would be the best man for the place."

"This reply did not prove to be satisfactory. Mr. Herrin continued the conversation and very broadly intimated that if I would name a man friendly to the interests of the Southern Pacific Company the honor of doing so would be given to me, and he even went so far as to say to me in so many words that if I would name such a man this company would secure his election, and that the Senator so elected would be my tool. I continued to decline the proffered privilege, and the interview closed."

"I was at a loss to understand the real purpose of Mr. Herrin's visit, but I was not left long in the dark. Mr. Herrin went immediately to two friends of mine and sought to induce them to use their influence with me to have me name Dan Burns for Senator. After having told this he again came to me and repeated the proposition he had previously made. Being then advised of his real intentions, which were, of course, that I should give the privilege of naming the Senator, provided I named Burns, I gave Mr. Herrin a flat refusal."

"About this time I learned from John D. Spreckels that Herrin had made a similar proposition to him. After a consultation we decided to unmask the railroad attorney and thus learn his real intentions. Accordingly a telephone message was sent to Herrin requesting him to meet Mr. Spreckels in his office at 12th and Broadway streets, no indication being given that I was to be present. Herrin complied immediately with the request, and was ushered into the room where we were. He was so surprised and taken back that he hesitated against the wall for support until he could recover himself."

"I asked Herrin how it was that he had made practically the same proposition to Mr. Spreckels and myself. He weakly and hesitantly put out a cigar and stuck the wrong end of it in his mouth, and finally stammered out something about the delay that had been made in making a reply to his proposition."

I then asked him point blank: "Who is the railroad's candidate for United States Senator?" His reply was: "Colonel Dan Burns is the railroad's candidate."

"Herrin was then told both by Mr. Spreckels and myself that under no circumstances would the railroad's candidate be supported by either The Call or the Chronicle. That ended the interview. "In the light of the events of the past two weeks, I can see that the political managers of the Southern Pacific Company and Burns have worked together during the whole of this campaign with the end in view of securing the election of Burns to the United States Senate. Burns has changed his personal habits, though he has not changed his personal associates. As far back as last August he went to a gentleman to whom he had not spoken in years and asked that by-gones be forgotten. The cause of his coming to this gentleman grew out of the fact that when Burns was in jail in Sacramento, charged with robbing the State of more than $20,000, this gentleman refused to go on his bond. He saw word to Burns about the fact that he was in the place where he ought to be, and that he trusted that he would be punished as he deserved."

"Burns also went to the attorney who defended him when he was charged with robbing the State, and asked the attorney never paid, and requested him to forget the past and be friends. "It was Burns that handled all of the money paid out in this district to legislative candidates previously by the railroad company, during the campaign. This was done for the purpose of securing their favor for Burns when he should finally unmask and come out as a 'Senatorial' candidate."

"As I said at the beginning, these are facts that the public should know in order that the people of the State can decide if they want Burns represented in the United States Senate."

MR. SPRECKELS TALKS.
"Mr. Herrin came to me some time ago," said Mr. Spreckels, "and told me that I could name the next United States Senator. He said that I might as well have the honor as another, as he believed at best for all parties, to come together and agree upon some good man."

"I asked him if the railroad had a candidate, and he said it had not. He added, however, that the railroad would favor a man whose views on public questions were not prejudicial to its interests. "I told Mr. Herrin that I had no candidate, and that I was willing to consider any big, broad-minded man who would be satisfactory to the people of the State. I then named every man who has from time to time been mentioned as a Senatorial possibility, but at the suggestion of each name Herrin shook his head and said the man would not do. Burns' name had never been mentioned in connection with the Senatorship, and I never entered my head that it was Burns whom Herrin was trying to get me to name."

"When I found out from Mr. De Young that Herrin had made the same proposition to him, and that it was Burns for whom the railroad was seeking my support and the support of The Call, the whole thing dawned upon me. I immediately sent for Mr. Herrin. He was somewhat disconcerted when he found

Mr. De Young with me, but when he was challenged to name the railroad's candidate he defiantly asserted that it was Colonel Dan Burns, and no one else. I did not leave him long in doubt as to the attitude The Call would assume toward Colonel Burns' candidacy, and there the matter was dropped."

NEW VOTING MACHINES HAVE BEEN TESTED.

Commission Prepares Its Report for the Legislature.

Precautions Suggested to Prevent Any Fraud.

At the last session of the Legislature a commission consisting of W. M. Hinton, C. B. Morgan, Oakland, and J. V. Webster was appointed to examine, test and investigate the various voting machines. The commission has prepared its report to be presented to the Legislature in January. A great many voting machines have been examined during the past two years. The report in part is as follows:

"In investigating and testing voting machines we have found two dangers to be guarded against. One, manipulation on the part of a voter to cause the machine to register more than such voter is entitled to; and the other, manipulation on the part of the person charged with preparing the machine for an election, by which the result may be falsified."

"Machines which record all the votes cast by each individual by one movement, after or as the voter leaves the voting booth, are less liable to be tampered with by the voter than those which attempt to lock each key as the voter proceeds to cast his vote. The separate locking of each voting device as used, is open to the objection that it prevents a voter from correcting a mistake, while those which operate all the registering devices by one motion, only record the used keys as left by the voter and hence afford no temptation or possibility for repeating."

"The danger of manipulation of the machinery on the part of the persons charged with preparing the machines for an election is not so easily guarded against in the design and construction of the machine, but to meet this difficulty we suggest in case the Legislature adopts a machine which provides for the arrangement of candidates in groups for one office, that as soon as the period for recording nominations by parties and by petition is closed, all machines to be used in the ensuing election shall be examined, and put into order by expert officers, to be appointed by the Board of Election Commissioners, and the counting mechanism of each machine tested. The machines shall then be locked and sealed so as to prevent any access to the working parts. Ten days before the holding of an election the name of each candidate for the same office, or subordinate offices shall be written on a separate piece of paper, which shall be folded so that the name written thereon cannot be seen or read without unfolding the same; and when the names are so written and folded they shall be placed in a box to be provided for the purpose and thoroughly shaken. The Board of Election Commissioners shall then open said box in the presence of a majority of said Board and in the presence of such members of the various political parties as may be present to witness the same, and shall then take from said box such slips of paper and the names thus drawn for each group of candidates shall be placed upon the machines in order in which they are taken from the box."

"If a machine with party columns is adopted, the columns could be drawn for in like manner. By the adoption of this method all temptation to prepare a counting mechanism so as to favor or injure the record of a candidate would be removed and all danger of the manipulation of the machine by those charged with preparing same for an election would be eliminated. This method would also remove the objection to the present alphabetical arrangement of names on the ballot, which tends to favor candidates whose names commence with the early letters of the alphabet."

"Special provisions to fit the construction of any voting machine which may be authorized by the Legislature will have to be substituted for the detailed instructions governing election boards now incorporated in the election laws of the State, but no radical change in the methods of conducting elections will be required in substituting the machine for the ballot. It will be advisable to retain section 1210 of article II (Appendix "C") so modified as to furnish instructions to voters how to use machines for voting and furnish them with a fac-simile of the ballot as placed on the machines.

"By the use of machines it will be possible to avoid such crudities as are involved in Sec. 1255, Art. II, which reads, in part: 'The ballots must be immediately replaced in the box and if the ballots in the box exceed in number the names on the lists, one of the judges must publicly and without looking in the box, draw out therefrom singly and destroy, unopened, a number of ballots equal to such excess.'"

"Under this provision no voter is certain that his vote will be counted, the ballot of an honest elector may be cancelled and the fraudulent one retained. The mere casting of a ballot does not insure its being counted or, if canvassed, that it will be read or correctly. In a properly designed machine every vote cast will be correctly counted and no more votes can be cast than the total number of voters taking part in the election."
